

The People's Column

Tabor is the only community in the county that has evinced any intention of putting on a community fair this year. While the Howell Lumber Company Fair is a splendid idea and the project is going over with great success, promising to be an annual event, at the same time it should not take place of the community fair, but rather act as a climax to it. Each community in the county ought to hold its own fair to act as an incentive to community building and then let the Howell Fair serve to unite the several communities into a county unit or whole. Other live, wide-awake communities ought to get busy right away and make plans for a community fair to be held in late September or early in October.

The Shirock Club Elects Leaders Various Groups

Looking toward great efficiency, and preparatory to the great constructive program of club work being worked out by state leaders, County Agent C. L. Beason and Home Demonstration Agent Miss Abbie Sevier are reorganizing the clubs of the county by asking each club to appoint group, or project, leaders, whose duty it will be to report to the secretary at the end of each month the progress of the respective sections. The president and secretary of each club will form a county council which will meet once a month with the County Agent and the Home Demonstration Agent to discuss matters of general interest to club work and to further the interest of each club in the county.

Shirock club, at a call meeting on Tuesday night, was the first club to take steps looking to the better organization, and elected the following members group leaders: Vera Atkins, sewing; home improvement; Myrtle Lloyd, poultry; Allen Gandy, farm crops; Eddie Kulak, livestock.

The Shirock meeting Tuesday night was well attended, and notwithstanding it was a called meeting all members, except three, were present. The new gas light, which was purchased with prize money from the Howell Lumber Company contest, was installed and made a fine light. Mr. Kreck was appointed keeper of the light.

Charles McIntosh and Margaret Beason accompanied County Agent Beason to the Shirock meeting. The meeting was held rather late in the hope that H. D. Cuykendall would come to say "good-bye," but he never showed up.

LIONS CLUB MAKES INSPECTION OF CITY POWER PLANT-GIVE PIN TO PAST PRESIDENT ERSKINE

The Lions Club had a real treat at their Tuesday luncheon when Geo. Griffin, Jr., a former Bryan boy, sang for them. His opening number was Schubert's "Serenade." An enthusiastic encore brought as a response "Valencia." Mr. Griffin has a rich baritone voice which shows excellent training and harmony. He has been singing over KPRC out of Houston and has made a splendid reputation with radio fans. After hearing him, the Lions could readily understand why he has built such an enviable reputation as a singer. He has been taking lessons from Geo. Compson in Houston and will leave Friday for Linsburg, Kansas, to continue his work in voice. Previous to coming to Bryan to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Griffin, he attended a house party in Victoria where the demand for his singing was so great as to affect his throat, yet it was not noticeable in his singing Tuesday, since his training has taught him much in the care of his voice.

Another feature of interest was the presentation of a gold Lion pin to Rip Erskine, the past-president. Lion Griner made an appropriate presentation speech, which was feelingly responded to by Lion Erskine in a sincere, impressive manner.

Lions Hensarling and Erskine introduced as their guests prize-winners in rural club work, Britton Henderson, Milton Kurten, Miss Virginia Kurten and Jesse Gilpin, while J. Bryan Miller and Jesse Gilpin, while J. Bryan Miller introduced I. E. Warren, city electrician, as his guest and Ross M. Sherwood, of the Texas Experiment Station, was introduced as a new member. He made a fitting

Paul Mikulec of Edge Visits Bryan

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mikulec and little son, Emil of Edge, were in Bryan today shopping with our merchants and were appreciated visitors at the Eagle office. Mr. and Mrs. Mikulec live on a farm one 1-4 mile from the town of Edge. And that they believe in diversification is proven by the system they practice in their farming. Mr. Mikulec has 15 acres planted to cotton, 15 acres to corn, 1 acre to oats, 1-3 acre to sorghum and several acres to other feed stuff as Darso, milo maize, and etc. They also have 5 good milk cows that furnish more than enough milk and butter for their own use, the surplus is sold or fed to the pen of good meat hogs. Another asset to this successful farm is a flock of poultry. When asked what kind of chickens they had Mr. Mikulec replied "A Duke's Mixture". These chickens, 300 of them, supply meat and eggs for the table and the surplus is sold in the markets and keeps ready money on hand all the year around.

Mrs. Mikulec does her part in diversification, as she looks after the poultry, the garden and the orchard. As proof of her success she this year has put up more than 400 jars of peaches, pears, plums, and vegetables grown on their home place. "In times of plenty I believe in preparing for times of famine," she said. "While we will have more than enough fruit and vegetables to supply us through this winter, yet we don't know if we will have such a crop next year. And I haven't forgotten how we starved for fruit and vegetables last year, so I canned an extra amount while I had the products." "My crops are all above the average," said Mr. Mikulec. "So far they have escaped from the worms," he said.

It was the girl from Mineral Wells, who thought that when the doctor gave her that it meant "let her go."

The five leading states in crop production in 1934 were Texas, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas and Oklahoma—Texas producing about four-fifths as much as Illinois and Iowa together in crop value. Texas produces one-third of the nation's cotton.

The editor of the Christian Register recently told a Maryland audience that "the only thing that can save us from extinction all over the country is a virtual state church, and then a virtual monarchy in the heart of a democracy, is for the church to teach and preach the doctrine of liberty." That's something to think about.

GOOD ADVICE

When you step into a business house and find people sitting on the counter, chewing tobacco and smoking cigarettes, you may soon look for a business house to be closed up. If a person is persistent in sitting on your counter, and you can't keep him off of it, fill it full of traps—Madisonville Observer.

JOY OF LIVING

As you start the day just give a thought
To the good that you can do—
As you work along with other folk
And they along with you.

Just try to help with a word of cheer
Some other through the day—
A kind word spoken, a good deed done
Will brighten up their way.

Forget yourself as you take the lead
Of him who works with you—
The joy in living comes in giving
To others sunshine, too.

—Ralph Duff Logan, in Auto Sports

SOME MISERS YET

Reports from the United States Treasury Department show that there must be some truthfulness in the statement that when certain folks get hold of a dollar it goes out of circulation. At the close of business July 31, the total stock of money in the United States was $8,359,976,601, while only $4,558,474,543 was in circulation. The per capita circulation for the country was $42.01. On the same date silver dollars in circulation totaled $51,746,227. So the popularity of Mr. One Dollar bill has not eliminated the Silver King entirely. That employment conditions over the country are good might be concluded from the fact that the per capita circulation increased 16 cents during the month of July, while the total stock of money increased approximately $27,000,000.

THE TEACHER

As old man going a lone highway
Came at the evening, cold and gray,
To a chasm, vast, and deep, and wide,
The old man crossed in the twilight dim,
The swollen stream had no fears for him;
But he turned, when safe on the other side,
And built a bridge to span the tide.

"Old man," said a fellow pilgrim near,
"You are wasting your time in building here,
You never again will pass this way,
Your journey will end with the closing day;
You have crossed the chasm, deep and wide,
Why build you this bridge at even tide?"

The builder lifted his old gray head,
"Good friend, in the way I've come," he said,
"There followeth after me today,
A youth, whose feet must pass this way;
This stream, that has been an untold grief,
To the fair-haired youth might as well be a fall—
He, too, must cross in the twilight dim;
Good friend, I am building this bridge for him."—Selected.

Miss Ino has a query from a girl in Mineral Wells, who wants to know who put the red in the Red Sea.

Be she fairer than the day,
Or flowery meads in May,
If she be not so to me
What care I how fair she be?
—George Withers.

The right honorable gentleman is indebted to his memory for his jests and to his imagination for his facts.—Richard Brinsley Sheridan.

Despite worms, fleas and all other pests, we believe Brazos county will have an average if not better than average cotton crop. Predictions now are that we will make from 20,000 to 25,000 bales. If that be true, Bryan and Brazos county won't fair so bad.

WHAT BRYAN NEEDS

There are two things that Bryan needs before it will make any appreciable progress, said a man in The Eagle office the other afternoon. These two things, he said, is a market for all the things that are grown or can be grown in Brazos county; and good roads.

The proprietor of a local tourist park declares that Bryan is getting less than a third of the tourist traffic this year, than last year or in former years. The reason for this, he adds, is the bad roads. People coming through Bryan from points in Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Kansas, all have something to remark in the fact that Texas is not up to their home States in road work and that this particular section through here has such bad roads.

As a matter of fact, the people are going by the eastern route, down through Nacogdoches and Jacksonville, to the coast country, or are taking the western route, down through Brenham and Hempstead. This tourist park is a member of the American Automobile Association and this organization will direct people through Bryan, the shortest route, whenever it is justified in so doing. But, in rainy weather the organization does not feel that it is just to the traveling public to send them through this route.

Last year the cars were putting up at this park at the rate of $20 and $25 to the night. As each car spent $3 or $4 while it was in Bryan, this meant a revenue to the owner of from $75 to $100. There are on average of only five or six cars per night, and the returns to the city of Bryan is therefore cut down to only $12 or $15. This is a loss of revenue directly due to bad roads.

GET BEHIND AND HELP

Now that the election is over and it is settled who will direct the affairs of the government in Texas for the next two years, it is time for us all to get down to our "knitting." My governor will your governor, my attorney general will be your attorney general. And any man who is capable of filling the high offices of the state government should be big enough to not have favoritism to hand out to his partisans to the hurt of the people or punishment of his enemies, but should be a servant of all the people. Now these men are not supermen, but only human and we should not expect too much of them, but must stand behind them if they are to accomplish the things we would like for them to do. If they are to blot from Texas the sneers, criticism, and sarcastic comments by the outside world, if they are to establish a regime of honesty and efficiency in State affairs and uphold the observance of the laws and see that the verdicts of our juries and courts are carried out, if they are to re-establish the credit of Texas and her honesty in meeting her obligations then every man and woman that love their state and stands for good government must get behind these officers and support them in their efforts. The voice of the people is the law. Fearless though they be capable, honest, yet they with in themselves can do little without the support of the people. Get behind your state officers for good government. We have always maintained that citizens have no right to participate prominently in the election of our officers and then abandon them just as soon as they are sworn into office. These men we have chosen to lead us have no easy task. Get behind them and help.

COUNTY RACES
The only races in the county were for Justice of Peace in the Harvey and the Wellborn and College precincts. At College the ballots did not carry the candidates for Justice of Peace. The result at Wellborn was a victory for P. L. Barron, over J. S. Royder, 52 to 17. At Harvey, no-one was elected and all three names will have to go into the final election in November. Yardley got 32 votes, K. Kelly got 38 and W. H. Garner got 17. The total vote cast in the county was 2803, whereas in the first primary the total was 3150.

NEGRO FARMERS AND CHILDREN RETURN FROM SHORT COURSE AT PRAIRIE VIEW—SIXTY ATTENDED

Brazos county negroes, some 55 or 60 men, women and children, returned Thursday night on the midnight train from Prairie View Colored Normal School, where they attended the Short Course held there on the 23rd, 24th and 25th. The party from Brazos was in charge of L. A. Nash, negro county agent.
Nash reports that the Brazos delegation of boys and girls made some good marks. There were about 35 from Brazos, out of 83 in all, entered in judging of dairy and beef cattle, and hogs. All placed high. Announcement of prizes won has not yet been received.
Nash states that this was the best, most instructive and most inspirational Short Course ever held at Prairie View. Accommodations were better than they ever have been heretofore.
Prizes for corn club members will not be made, said Nash, until after the crop is harvested and the members have made affidavit before a notary public as to yields.
A. W. Buchanan, district agent in East Texas, represented President T. O. Walton of the A. and M. College, said Nash, and made a splendid speech. H. H. Williamson, State Agent, Extension Service, was also present and made a fine talk to the negroes. Many other officials of A. and M. were also present and took part in the instruction work.

NORMANGEE PERFECTS A MELON ASSOCIATION AND SELLS FORTY CAR LOADS IN THE FIRST YEAR

Leon county, principally Normangee and vicinity, under the leadership of R. A. Crawford, editor of the Normangee Star, and a few others, here-after mentioned, organized a Melon Growers' Association and sold 40 carloads of watermelons, this being the first year that section has ventured into that line of endeavor. The price was low and this being the first year, very little was known about handling the new crop to the best advantage. But the forty car loads represented a neat profit to the growers.
The crop was marketed in much the same manner as cotton. The wagon load of melons was weighed on the scales, the melons loaded into the car and the wagon returned to the scales for re-weighing, thereby determining the weight of the melons. The melons were sold by the pound, bringing this year from 21 to 35 cents despite the fact that every community in the south had plenty of melons this year.
Ed Snow, an old melon raiser of the vicinity of Normangee, had several acres of melons and he says that if he can get 25 cents per hundred pounds for his melons he will make more money than any cotton farmer. The price, in average years, runs from 50 cents to per 100-lbs. up. There is good money in the crop at 50 cents and frequently, down in the Valley, they get as high as a dollar per hundred pounds.
The Melon Growers' Association was organized in the late fall or early winter of last year. This spring they wanted to get melon buyers into Normangee. The chairman of the Association has a brother-in-law by the name of Jim Smith, who is one of the leading melon growers of San Dia, Texas, not in the Valley but near it. He has been in the business for years and spent all his life, up to the past 15 years, in Normangee and vicinity where he is well known and respected. Everyone has confidence in him. On his advice and instructions Normangee had gone ahead, purchased their seed, planted and cultivated. When ready for the market, he came up in person, bringing one buyer with him. He was acquainted with all the melon buyers. Due to the assistance and the help of a local man who arranged the markets and sold to the best advantage, Normangee has made a success of the first year of melon growing and plans to continue it. Next year they expect to plant something like 500 acres of melons in that section.

It takes two or three acres of melons to produce a car load, although it is not unusual to make a car load off of one acre. The melon marketing season is only of about three weeks duration.
An acre of melons, producing 900 market melons, which is a car load, those melons averaging 33 1-3 pounds each, at 25 cents per hundred pounds, will make $75. Individuals have made that this year and that is a very low price. He has also the advantage that his melon crop is marketed, the money in his hand, before cotton begins to open. He can go fishing the rest of the year while the rest of the fellows are toiling in the hot sun picking the cotton. There are thousands of acres of sandy land around Normangee that will make melons to perfection and very poor land for a cotton crop.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Cotton Ginned In Martin Home—The Warehouses Amounts to 841

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Martin and children, three boys, A. D. Jr., Foy and Marcell, returned Monday evening about 6 o'clock from a four weeks' automobile trip to the Colorado Rockies, camping out at all places along the route for the entire period. They made the trip by way of Fort Worth, up to Harper, Kansas where they visited for a time, camped one night in Pratt, Kansas, and then went west to Pueblo, Colorado Springs, a few days stop in Denver, on to Boulder where they spent several days. From here and also from Colorado Springs they took side trips into the canyon and up the mountains, making the car trip up Pike's Peak. They had a most interesting trip but found it cold sleeping at night there in camp style. On the return trip they came by way of New Mexico, visiting friends at Gainesville, Denton and McKinney. They covered, on the entire trip, 3,000 miles.

Boys' and Girls' Club Department

Club News and Farm News by County Agent C. L. Reason

Facts About Club Work.

The National Committee on boys' and girls' club work has the following to say concerning its importance: Club work officially organized in 1914; membership in 1926, 620,000; value of products produced in 1925, $10,450,000; prize money offered from all sources to stimulate club work in 1925, $920,000; number of State Bankers' Associations giving financial aid, 38; bank loans to club members during 1925, $2,500,000; increase in enrollment in 1925 over 1924, 10.7 per cent; increase in projects completed in 1925 over 1924, 16.3 per cent; number of local club leaders in 1925, 54,000; number of foreign countries which have adopted club work, 13; influence of future agriculture and prosperity, cannot be estimated. These statements should serve to give the reader some idea of what the business world is beginning to think of club work. Most of the facts refer, however, to the economic advantages of club work, and hence do not fully represent its four-fold development of head, hands, heart, and health. A recent page ad in a local paper by Bryan business men boosting club work indicates that "our own people have 'tuned in' on the significance of club work in Brazos county in its relation to a better agriculture and a more intelligent citizenship."

flowing." This is just another instance of the good work bankers may help to accomplish when they co-operate in a better farming program.

Among the attractive and interesting stories released are: "Landmarks in Austin, Texas", "The Quaint Old Town of Fredericksburg" and others.

Prepare for Poultry Show.

All poultry club members, should bring eggs from College, should bring in mind that Dr. Boyd, poultry husband of the College, is offering a prize of $50 for the best pen of birds exhibited at the County Poultry Show, December 4, 10, and 11. These prizes will be awarded according to show type, but be scored on general condition, vigor and general condition of birds. You will have plenty of time to get your poultry in fine shape by December 1st. Get busy with your poultry in fine shape with your Barred Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, and S. C. White Leghorns.

Better Poultry in Brazos.

A poultry raiser, visiting the Short Course, declared that she found better birds in Brazos county at five dollars apiece than she has been purchasing elsewhere at $10. And get we all to advance our products in the world. Right now we have a car load of fine breeding stock which could be sold at good prices, but no body knows about it. Poultry raisers should get together.

Sam Emola And Terracing.

Sam Emola, of Route 6, whose farm shows one of the outstanding advantages of terracing, was in to see the County Agent this week about more help in the matter of terracing. On account of having to put up with crooked rows, Mr. Emola hesitated for a long time to have terraces made, but seeing the results on his neighbors' farms, he began to work some three years ago, himself being a booster for terracing now.

Get Fair Exhibits Ready.

What are you doing about that fair exhibit, individual and community? Don't wait till the last hour, when you will be too busy, or the quality of your products may be greatly damaged by the weather.

Two Poultry Problems.

There are two phases of the poultry industry which should receive careful attention in Brazos county: The production of the heavier breeds to be sold on the market for broilers and fryers and the lighter breeds for market eggs. This would insure uniformity of product and a better price.

1000 Club Members to Fair.

Franklin county, Texas, is planning to send 1000 club boys and girls to the State Fair at Dallas this fall. The management of the State Fair is doing a big part toward the boys and girls of Texas, and all who help these youngsters in making a trip to this wonderful agricultural and livestock show are contributing no small part to the building of a better agriculture in our great state.

Fine Yield of Hegari.

"Uncle Jimmie" Mathis of Reliance states that he has gathered more than 2,000 pounds of Hegari heads from about half an acre, not counting what he has fed at different time to stock, etc. This would indicate that this variety of grain sorghum is adaptable to our uplands in Brazos county. Let's have other reports on grain sorghums that we may be the better prepared to make our plans for next year. Who comes next?

Banks Put It Over.

Commenting on the extensive campaign carried on by the bankers of Clifton, Texas, in the interest of a better farming program, R. R. Waldrup, banker of Clifton, says, in a letter to Clarence Outley of the Texas Safe Farming Association, "There has been an extensive campaign carried on by both banks of Clifton encouraging more sheep, more cattle, and more poultry. The result of which we have passed through one of the worst droughts this part of Texas ever saw with out serious hurt. We have on hand sufficient grain with the over crop that is already made to run this community two years, and every landlord and tenant have filled the granaries to over-

ALL BRYAN MOURNS DEATH OF SAM B. WILSON, ONE OF MOST PROMINENT OF BUSINESS MEN

Shocked by the news of the sudden death of Sam B. Wilson, while at his usual place in his store on Monday afternoon, the entire city of Bryan, is sad today, and mourns the loss of one of its most useful and beloved citizens. Without warning the grim reaper called him, and he was taken away; heart failure was given as the cause of his death. As he stood near the cash register on the second floor of the building, arranging a basket of flowers for the show window, he was stricken, and fell to the floor. Physicians were immediately summoned, but life was extinct. Truly "in the midst of life we are in death," and the evidence is sure, that "we know not what a day may bring forth."

Sam B. Wilson was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Wilson, pioneer residents of Brazos county, the father, J. P. Wilson being one of the first merchants of Bryan when the town was located in 1866 and 1867, at the terminus of the H. and T. C. railroad. Sam B. Wilson was born in Bryan, July 20, 1869 at the old Wilson home-stand, where he lived continuously throughout his life. The old home where he was born was replaced only a year ago by his present new bungalow and where he resided at the time of his death. With unusual natural business ability, and inheriting the ability of his father, Sam B. Wilson, early in life began his business career in this city as a merchant and succeeded in a marked degree. Many partnership business relations were his, all pleasant and successful, and for the past several years he has been sole owner and proprietor of his big department store on main street. He was also owner of the Hotel Bryan, the Queen Theatre, many other property sites in this city and also in Dallas, Houston, and other cities of the state, attesting his ability as a man of more than usual business acumen.

His pastor, Rev. L. Guy Ament, of the Bryan Christian church, assisted by his former pastor, Rev. John Wright Holsapple, pastor of the First Christian church at Temple, conducted the funeral service at the home, and also at the grave where interment was made in the City Cemetery.

A wealth of beautiful flowers, loving tributes from friends in Bryan and Brazos county, and also from other cities over Texas, covered the new made grave with a blanket of fragrant blossoms. McCulloch-Gordon Undertaking Company of this city, had charge of all the funeral arrangements. Pall bearers were: Active: E. J. Jenkins, Guy P. Bittle, E. F. Parks, Wilson Bradley, J. L. Brock and Tyler Haswell. Honorary: H. O. Boatwright, W. S. Colard, A. M. Waldrup, D. E. Aden, Robert Lemon, James H. Webb, Thomas Lundin, George A. Adams, F. L. Henderson, H. O. Ferguson, L. D. McGee, Robert Armstrong, Sr.

W. F. GELBER ELECTED MEMBER OF BOARD OF DIRECTORS—SAN ANTONIO ROAD TO BE REPAIRED

In the absence of Secretary S. H. Eberstadt, County Agent C. L. Reason presided at secretary of the regular Tuesday morning session of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce, which held this morning at 10:00 in the chamber rooms. A feature of the session was the election of W. F. Gelber as a member of the Board of Directors, succeeding W. S. Barron, resigned.

Mayor Tyler Haswell, chairman of the Entertainment committee, took up the matter of inviting the county judges and commissioners to hold their annual convention in Bryan next year and in succeeding years, the convention to be held while the Short Course is in session at A. and M. College so that the officials might attend and get the benefit of the Course.

On motion of Jno. M. Lawrence, it was carried that Judge H. O. Ferguson present the invitation on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce and that the secretary be instructed to write Judge A. R. Luker of Comanche what action had been taken. It was recommended that in this letter, notification be given that the county officials, on the occasion of their meeting in Bryan, would have to accept the conditions that they might find in the crowded city of Bryan but that they would be cared for as best the city could do under the present conditions.

City Manager J. Bryan Miller gave a brief report on abattoirs, stating that he had had a letter from the manager of the Orange abattoir to the effect that the institution there was a success. He said further, that he expected to receive other letters in regard to the same subject in the near future.

Wilson Bradley of the Trade Extension committee reported that

Lumber Hasn't Arrived for the Santone Bridge

R. A. Crawford of the Normangee Star was in Bryan on Monday afternoon and said that he found roads good between his home city and Bryan, but could be very much better. He said that the new bridge at San Antonio crossing was practically complete. The superstructure was all in place and the only thing they were waiting on to complete the bridge was the lumber for the floor boards. The dump is all in place but is not sufficiently wide and will later have to be added to. He said that the bill on this side in Brazos county was bad and needed working, suggesting that something be done right away to make the road in Brazos county as good as it is in Leon or Madison. He also added that the road at Macy—well, he said he did not like to comment about things in the neighbor's home.

LOVE'S INN

By Catherine Rhodes-Davis
How do they know it
With no sign to show it
About this brown home nest of ours?

Do little birds sing it
Or friendly winds fling it
Or butterflies wing it
Or is the tell-tale flowers?

In all sorts of weather,
It matters not whether
The season be balmy or cold,
By strange divination
All types of creation—
The maimed and the blind, young and old,

The homeless and friendless,
The hungry, and endless
Array of life's flotam, far strewn—
Come tripping knocking
Where never was locking
A door or a heart against plea of God's own.

Where can they read it?
Do stately trees shed it
As shade on the hot drooping flowers?
I'm glad if birds sing it
Or friendly winds fling it
Or lilybells ring it—
The love that abides in this home nest of ours.

INTERMEDIATE GIRLS' CLASS OF THE COLLEGE AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH ENTERTAINED FRIDAY

Mrs. J. M. Dunn, with her usual thoughtfulness, provided a delightful afternoon of pleasure on Friday for the members of the Intermediate Girls' Class of the College Avenue Baptist Sunday School, of which she is the beloved teacher. Mrs. Dunn's hospitable home, always attractive and inviting, was made more beautiful in honor of the occasion by the placing of summer's prettiest flowers throughout the rooms. Pink zinnias and pink roses were used in the living room, and only the brilliant red zinnias in artistic profusion adorned the dining room. The fact that one of the beloved members of this class of girls, Miss Alia Stanford, is leaving before September with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stanford to make her home in Longview, gave a tinge of sadness to the otherwise happy occasion. Just as the delicious refreshments of lemon ice cream and angel food were being served, Mrs. Dunn in words of sincere love and appreciation of the departing member of the class, Miss Alia, presented to her a pretty tray, piled high with beautiful handkerchiefs, gifts from her teacher and her class members. Those enjoying this affair with Mrs. Dunn were Misses Alia and Evelyn Stanford, Bessie Lou Wilkey, Winona McNeely, Helen Minkler, Pauline Morgan, Gladys Mae Bond, Ila Mae Hall, Mary Jane Dunn.

MR. AND MRS. FRED L. SLOOP RETURN FROM THEIR VACATION SPENT IN THE NORTHERN STATES

Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Sloop and daughter, Elizabeth, returned last night from St. Francisville, Mo., coming by auto and taking 6 days to make the trip on account of the heavy rains encountered along a way. The rains proved quite a hindrance as Mr. and Mrs. Sloop go with their car equipped for camping out in the open. They have made three round trips to Missouri since they have been making their home in Bryan and only once have they been sheltered at night in a hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Sloop left Bryan the first week in June, going direct to St. Francisville, Mo. After a few days visit there they went to Madison, Wisconsin, where the entire family entered the State University. Mr. Sloop working on his Master's degree, majoring in Political Science; Mrs. Sloop taking general academic work, and Elizabeth taking lessons in swimming. Six weeks spent here in summer school, they then went back to Missouri to visit relatives in different Missouri towns, making their final stop at St. Francisville. "There is a decided improvement in the roads since the first trip I made three years ago. Each year one can see a vast improvement. And I do believe before long we can make the entire trip on hard-surfaced roads," said Mr. Sloop. We passed through parts of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Arkansas on our trip to Missouri and return and there is one criticism I have to make of Texas, that we did not find in other states, and that was the neglect of the Highway Department to put road markers up to direct the traveling public," said Mr. Sloop. This is not the first time we have heard this criticism. This is something Texas towns should not overlook. It is an injustice to strangers who traverse our state and it is certainly a convenience to Texans. Mr. Sloop expressed himself as delighted to be back home and begin his school work in the history department of the Bryan Public Schools.

Rev. and Mrs. C. B. Thompson and baby arrived Thursday night by car, coming here from Lott, where they stopped over en route home from a visit with relatives of Rev. Thompson. They had been gone about two weeks, going first to Henderson where they spent one week while Rev. Thompson had charge of a revival service for Rev. Ira Harper at the Free Baptist Church there. They had five additions to the church in the one week and many reformations, much good accomplished. Rev. Thompson said it was the splendidest meeting. This was the first church over which Rev. Thompson was pastor after he entered the ministry, and he had many friendships to renew while there.

From Henderson they went to Dallas where he visited his sisters, Mrs. A. Long and Mrs. J. B. Moncries, having stopped at Carrollton en route for a visit with his father, R. M. Thompson. Mexican Labor To Pick Cotton At Mooring Farm

Ward Mooring was in Bryan today from his plantation home in the Brazos Bottom. He was accompanied on his return by Lawrence Parker Jr. and young Kay Halsell, who will spend the week with him on the farm. Mr. Mooring has recently returned from a business trip to El Paso, where he secured Mexican labor as cotton pickers for the coming season.

MRS. C. G. WALKER GIVES MOST GLOWING ACCOUNT OF FLORIDA WHERE MR. WALKER IN BUSINESS

Mrs. C. G. Walker arrived about a week ago from Florida, called here by the illness of her mother, Mrs. B. P. Higgs, who is better now. Mrs. Walker will remain here until the latter part of September. The Walkers, formerly in the feed and seed business in Bryan, are now living in Miami, where Mr. Walker is in the brokerage business, she said, and making a success of his venture. The two boys both have employment and C. G., Jr., weighs 160 pounds. Both boys will enter high school this fall. Florida is very pretty, said Mrs. Walker, and the climate is delightful. It is cool and much more pleasant than our climate here. Big crowds are expected in Florida this winter and rents are going down and things returning to a more normal basis. Mrs. Walker invites the Bryan people to come down to visit them and to see this fall.

Rain Benefits Some Crops And Damages Others

"I think the rain of Sunday will start the leaf and boll worm back into work again," said County Agent C. L. Benson when asked what he thought the effects of the rain would be on Brazos county crops. "Late cotton, where poison is kept up, will benefit. It will also benefit fall gardens, pastures, etc., but comes too late for the feed crop which is already made and needs dry weather to gather. It will likely have a bad effect on grain sorghums which are now ready to harvest. However," he added, "the rain came and we must make the best of it, whether it does good or harm," which is pretty good philosophy.

Miss Bandelin Home From Trip To Milwaukee

County Public Health Nurse Miss Ella Bandelin returned home on the noon train Sunday from a vacation of two weeks, half of which was spent in sight-seeing and the other half at her home in Milwaukee, visiting her father, H. Bandelin, and her three sisters who are still living at home, the others residing in California. Miss Bandelin states that she found it very cold in Wisconsin and that the people have been wearing wraps there for some time. She did not take any coat with her and had to borrow one from her sisters during the time she was there, but returned in the light attire in which she made the trip. Miss Bandelin made the trip north by an out-of-the-way route in order to take in some Southern scenery. She went by way of New Orleans, and the States of Alabama, Tennessee and Kentucky, having stop-overs in New Orleans, Nashville, Cincinnati and Chicago. On the return trip she visited points along the same route that she did not get to see on the northward trip.

Mr. And Mrs. Cazell To Make Home In San Antonio, Tex.

"Back to my first love" was the way Gabe Cazell put it this morning when asked about his moving to San Antonio. Mr. and Mrs. Cazell and children, Gabe Jr., and Margaret Nan are in Bryan for a few days visit to Mrs. Cazell's mother, Mrs. Nanie Rhode and other relatives before they go to San Antonio to make their future home. For some time, since leaving Bryan, Mr. Cazell has been teaching classes in vocal in Ennis and Dallas, making his home in Ennis. He had built up splendid classes, but the inducements to come back to his old home, San Antonio, were made so flattering he could not resist. Added to the financial inducements, Mr. Cazell has some business interests in San Antonio that needed his personal supervision and would of necessity claim much of his time for the next few years, so that was a factor in making him yield to the pleadings of his old pupils to return to San Antonio. Besides teaching in a downtown studio, Mr. Cazell will direct the choir of Calvary Baptist church and several chorals clubs. Wherever Gabe Cazell goes he will make it a better town in which to live. A unselfish man and with a vision for service he practices the art of living rather than any particular art, though he is a singer of note and a teacher of merit. However, his chief contribution to any town or community in which he lives is the influence he exerts to bring about improvements where ever he thinks betterment is needed. The Eagle joins with his many friends in Bryan and Brazos county in wishing him success in his new field of endeavor.

Madison Hall And Family Are Home From Colorado

Madison Hall, Superintendent of the city schools of Bryan, and his family, returned Sunday evening by car, from an extended trip of 16 days, spent at various points in Colorado and at Santa Fe and Albuquerque, New Mexico, as well as in El Paso and Juarez. They visited their daughter, Miss Mabel Hall, who is a teacher in the Uppie Creek, Colorado, schools. In speaking of Colorado Mr. Hall noted two facts, that vegetables were very cheap and that the water and climate is the best. The Hall party spent two nights and one day in Albuquerque and at Santa Fe they visited the state capitol and the oldest church in the United States. At El Paso they took a taxi over to Juarez, Old Mexico, thereby visiting one foreign country on this short vacation trip. This was Mr. Hall's first visit to Juarez in 12 years and he notes many changes and improvements. He says that on his previous visit the homes were rough adobe and the streets were full of chugholes, with a general run-down atmosphere. He says that on this recent trip he notes that the adobe homes have been stuccoed, the streets are paved and that the general air is one of prosperity.

THREE INCHES OF RAIN FELL HERE SUNDAY

STEEP HOLLOW SECTION GOT A FLOOD OF WATER THAT WASHED LAND BADLY

Bryan Not So Much INCH—RAIN WAS SCATTERED IN LOCAL SHOWERS.

Brazos county got scattered rains in varying proportions on Sunday afternoon, the amount of precipitation being greatest in Harvey community where the fall was said by C. M. Risinger to have been at least three inches, coming down with such force and in such quantity as to badly wash the land. W. E. Gandy of Wellborn was in on Monday morning and added that only a moderate rain fell there. Visitors to the Pitts Bridge section on Sunday afternoon stated that the rain followed them all the way back to town. A Bryan visitor to Rocktown, said Sunday afternoon said there were scattered showers between there and Bryan, they driving over wet grounds for a while and then passing into stretches where there had been no rain at all. Bryan had a .73 inch rain, according to the standard gauge maintained at the office of the Eagle Printing Company.

COMMUNITY REPORTS

Various communities over the county have reported on the rainfall received. Kurten got a fine rain for about two hours; Reliance had a similar rain that lasted about an hour and a half. A visitor from the Navasota Bottom reports that a good rain was received there and also considerable wind. Wellborn got only a light shower and it just sprinkled at Millican and Navasota. Cottonwood had only a light shower, but Zack got a good rain, as did Iola.

Miss Pauline Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Martin, leaves tomorrow for Amonita, Oklahoma, where she will stay with relatives and attend school.

MISSION SCHOOL FOR BRYAN IN OCTOBER IS PLAN OF COUNTY FEDERATION CHURCH SOCIETIES

The Brazos County Federation of Church Societies held their regular fifth Monday meeting yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the Episcopal parish house. In the absence of the president, Mrs. J. L. Brock, who could not be present, owing to the death of Sam B. Wilson, Mrs. J. Webb Howell, presided. The meeting partook largely of business and was curtailed on account of the tragic death above mentioned. Mrs. John Gurvey sang a solo, the words and music of which were written by her husband. There was a brief Bible lesson and prayer with Mrs. Howell leading the devotional. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Mark Francis, secretary-treasurer and then the various committee reports were rendered. The treasurer's report showed a small balance in the bank. The principal item of business was a discussion of a School of Missions for the women of the churches to be held in Bryan this fall, probably in October. Several of the women present talked along this line. The Federations in many of the larger cities already have these schools which teach along lines of foreign and home mission work. Plans have not been definitely arranged for this school in Bryan but it is thought they will be carried thru to a successful completion. Every woman in town will be admitted by the payment of a small fee to cover the expense. The plans call for the securing of prominent speakers on Foreign and Home Missionary work from Nashville, Tennessee, Dallas, Houston, Beaumont and other points where such work is conducted. Further business was cut short out of memory to Sam B. Wilson.

Henry Ford Is Going Into the Hemp Business

(By Associated Press) YOKAUM, Sept. 1.—The news, carried recently by The Associated Press, that Henry Ford is going in for hemp farming near South Charleston, Ohio, is of interest to the farmers in this section, who, this year, started to raise hemp for the first time.

The new crop is being encouraged by the local Chamber of Commerce. It distributed 100 pounds of seed free to farmers as an experiment. Some of the seed, planted May 28, started coming up June 2, and stalks were harvested August 23, making about 90 days from the time of planting until the fiber was ready to harvest.

Three stalks were put on display here to show other farmers what the harvested product resembled.

Ups And Downs Of Mt. Enterprise

(By Associated Press) MOUNT ENTERPRISE, Sept. 1.—Hard luck has dogged the footsteps of residents of this town who sought to make an East Texas metropolis of it, believe "Uncle Billy" Ross, aged resident of this place who has seen the original Mount Enterprise go the way of all earthly things to be succeeded by the present town whose existence in turn is being threatened by the building of a state highway which skirts the town.

Back in 1869 Mr. Ross recalls that Old Mount Enterprise was a thriving town with resources capable of supporting one of the largest cotton factories in Texas. Short crops in the territory, however, forced the mainstay of the town into bankruptcy, with a deficit of $90,000, a huge sum in those days. Hardly had Old Mount Enterprise recovered from this blow when the "Caro Northern," a small railroad, was built through the county, locating its station a few miles from the town. Residents were unable to resist the pull of progress, Mr. Ross said, and with the exception of a few residents, moved bag and baggage to the new site along the railroad, the Mount Enterprise of today.

Mr. Ross sees a Mount Enterprise the third now in the making as a result of a state highway being surveyed recently through this section which misses the town by a small margin. The attendant business brought by the trunk road is gradually drawing Mount Enterprise to a new location, although the greater part still clusters around the railroad station.

for other reasons, many citizens of Texas have found that there are no notary publics in their offices, according to reports at the capital.

Those who now desire to be made notary publics, may be appointed by making application to their state senator or representative from the county in the legislature. Representative George C. Purl, of Dallas, said today:

"It is a very simple matter to become a notary public if the one who desires such a commission will only take the time to write his representative while the legislature is in session." Mr. Purl explained. "He should not depend upon his name being submitted without writing."

"Those who have commissions and who desire to be reappointed, should wait until the next regular session of the legislature in January. Those who have not been appointed should make application next month when the legislature is in special session."

"The special session appointments will expire next June, the same date that the regular appointments expire. If those appointed at the special session wish to be re-appointed, they must submit their applications to their representatives in the regular session, along with the regular appointments." Representative Purl explained.

C. L. McCoy Makes Winning Crop of Cotton In the City

C. L. McCoy, who has made a success of cultivating the waste lands of Bryan for the past few years, has this year made his greatest crop. With more than 60 acres in cultivation and planted to cotton in the city limits, he is gathering much from his endeavors. Up to date he has already gathered eight bales, all weighing more than 550 pounds.

Mr. McCoy predicts he will gather more than thirty bales from the fields. He has not been bothered with an infestation of the boll worms, so far, and his cotton now is too well fruited for the flea to damage it, so he sees no reason for not making a bumper crop.

One of the most important health considerations for our bedroom is good ventilation—plenty of fresh air. c. Sunny. Sun purifying effect should shine into our room some every day if possible. d. Cleanliness. Very important to health that our room should be clean. Most of us agree on this but in selecting materials or furnishings remember to choose those which (1) can be thoroughly cleaned. Bedroom proper place for them, but better to put them in a drawer away from dust and enjoy them when we wish to.

Seven Veterans of The Revolution Buried In Texas

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, Sept. 1.—Far from their war activities of 1776, seven veterans of the Revolutionary War lie buried in Texas soil. This is shown in a survey conducted by Walter Prescott Webb of the department of history, Texas University, who points out that his findings were surprising inasmuch as a soldier in the War of Independence would have been sixty years old at the time of the founding of Stephen F. Austin's original colony, using 20 years as a war age.

At least one of the Revolutionary war veterans participated in the Mexican War, Mr. Webb declares, citing pension records to support his contention.

H. D. McMurtry, who with his family is leaving Bryan Thursday for their new home at Arlington, Texas, will be ordained a deacon of the Baptist church, at a special ordination service to be held on Wednesday evening following the mid-week prayer service. Mr. McMurtry was elected as a deacon some weeks ago, but on account of his illness was unable to be present when the other twelve deacons of the church were ordained, and the Bryan church is anxious to thus recognize Mr. McMurtry before his departure from the city. The First Baptist church of this city regrets to lose Mr. and Mrs. McMurtry and their children as members, and shall miss them all in the work of the church, the Sunday School, the B. Y. P. U. and also the Woman's Auxiliary of which Mrs. McMurtry was a faithful member.

Heavy steel bars cast ghastly shadows on the leaden walls of each death crib, from the lone light in the corridor, where it burns low and where the one inside warden walks slowly to and fro, from the blank and dank wall of cell number one, to the iron door of the room where thirty souls have met their God.

Huddled against the cold, steel-barred doors, white, brown and black men read their much thumbed Bibles. They cannot look "with such a wistful eye" upon anything "the prisoners call the sky," and were it not for the change of the guards and the bringing in of food, they would never know when the rosy dawn creeps over the tall southern pines and rugged walls into the prison yard.

Day by day and night by night as the long hours drag by, the condemned men, slayers though they are, live in memories of the past and ponder of the life to come. They cannot hear a scaffold being built, with the nails piercing the heart of the wood with each thud of the hammer. They can only hear a faint hum of the modern electric generator, as the powerful energy known as electricity is switched on to test the chair of death.

The chair of death, in the room of destruction, stands high in gruesome silence. Of heavy timber, and very erect, with black leather binders for neck, arms and legs, the final sitting place of killers stands a picture of persecution. Prison-made is this chair, designed and built by a prisoner, a "lifer."

Friday nights are unwelcome nights behind the Walls in the Texas pen. The chaplain closes his school early. The prisoners become nervous and pace up and down their narrow cells in the faint rays of light reflected from the dim corridors into their darkened cells. Some have seen the coffin gaping open for its victim. Others have dug the grave in the desolate prison graveyard.

For centuries, life was taken from offenders of society at the dawn of a new day, or at high noon when the execution was an example to the populace. But now in the dead of night, past the hour of twelve in the world-known graveyard watch; at the expiration of yesterday and at the birth of today, when all the world should be at rest, the state's appointed agent places the switch on the circuit that kills, that society may be protected.

Giants of physical strength have taken the short death march with the prayers of the chaplain echoing in their ears. With but one exception, all of the score and ten were reconciled to their fate, and walked bravely and sat with shaven heads impatiently awaiting securing of the leather binders on neck, arms and legs. They stare at the officials and the few privileged curious behind a large iron rail broke down the courage of the spectators, who bowed their heads in abasement at their own loss to witness the destruction of a fellow man.

The binders are not placed to prevent the condemned from escaping. They are there to hold the leaping, straining body when the electricity enters and the soul departs.

N. L. Speer, the prison warden, the State appointed executioner, takes his stand behind the chair. A curtain is drawn that he may not see the dying man, as the warden closes the circuit with the switch, until the prisoner is dead. "It is duty," so says Warden Speer, "and try to tell myself that in the performance of duty

Reba Boyd of Rusk, a direct descendant of James Wilson Henderson, received first prize for the most valuable contribution to the survey; second prize went to Brooke F. Lane, Jr., McKinney; Drewlayne (correct) Brown, Houston; DeWitt C. Dunn, Houston, and Ailsa Rives Posey, Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. Dixon L. Turner and little daughter, Shirley Irene Turner, of Mumford, were visitors in Bryan today. Mr. Turner entering the Teachers Institute being held at the A. and M. College. They returned last night by automobile from Hereford, Deaf Smith county, where they had been on a visit to their parents.

Carl Jones of Reliance was in Bryan today on business.

CHALLENGE TO CHURCH TODAY IS "WORLD SERVICE," SAYS DR. R. J. WADE, EXECUTIVE SEC'Y.

(By Associated Press) NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 1.—World service is the greatest challenge to the church of today, the Area Men's Council of the Methodist Episcopal Church here was told today by Dr. R. J. Wade, executive secretary of the World Service Commission of the Methodist Church. World service, he explained, is the modern adaptation of the slogan of John Wesley, "The world is my parish."

"Today we are girding ourselves anew for our tasks," said Doctor Wade. "Prohibition must be maintained; philanthropy extended; education intensified; missions amplified; spiritual life deepened. This is the World Service of the Methodist Episcopal Church."

"World service is the greatest challenge to the church of today. Through missionary activities at home and abroad, by Bible distribution, through philanthropy and education we co-operate with Christ in an effort to redeem the world. World Service is World Salvation."

"Jesus Christ is the answer to the desire of all nations. He came that the world might have life and that life more abundantly. His

THIRTY MEN HAVE MET DEATH IN ELECTRIC CHAIR BEHIND THE WALLS OF TEXAS PENITENTIARY

(By Associated Press) HUNTSVILLE, Sept. 1.—A score and ten men have sat and bide the world goodbye in the death chair in the dark gray room of destruction here behind the aged walls of the Texas penitentiary. Nine death cells all in a row.

Heavy steel bars cast ghastly shadows on the leaden walls of each death crib, from the lone light in the corridor, where it burns low and where the one inside warden walks slowly to and fro, from the blank and dank wall of cell number one, to the iron door of the room where thirty souls have met their God.

Huddled against the cold, steel-barred doors, white, brown and black men read their much thumbed Bibles. They cannot look "with such a wistful eye" upon anything "the prisoners call the sky," and were it not for the change of the guards and the bringing in of food, they would never know when the rosy dawn creeps over the tall southern pines and rugged walls into the prison yard.

Day by day and night by night as the long hours drag by, the condemned men, slayers though they are, live in memories of the past and ponder of the life to come. They cannot hear a scaffold being built, with the nails piercing the heart of the wood with each thud of the hammer. They can only hear a faint hum of the modern electric generator, as the powerful energy known as electricity is switched on to test the chair of death.

The chair of death, in the room of destruction, stands high in gruesome silence. Of heavy timber, and very erect, with black leather binders for neck, arms and legs, the final sitting place of killers stands a picture of persecution. Prison-made is this chair, designed and built by a prisoner, a "lifer."

Friday nights are unwelcome nights behind the Walls in the Texas pen. The chaplain closes his school early. The prisoners become nervous and pace up and down their narrow cells in the faint rays of light reflected from the dim corridors into their darkened cells. Some have seen the coffin gaping open for its victim. Others have dug the grave in the desolate prison graveyard.

For centuries, life was taken from offenders of society at the dawn of a new day, or at high noon when the execution was an example to the populace. But now in the dead of night, past the hour of twelve in the world-known graveyard watch; at the expiration of yesterday and at the birth of today, when all the world should be at rest, the state's appointed agent places the switch on the circuit that kills, that society may be protected.

Giants of physical strength have taken the short death march with the prayers of the chaplain echoing in their ears. With but one exception, all of the score and ten were reconciled to their fate, and walked bravely and sat with shaven heads impatiently awaiting securing of the leather binders on neck, arms and legs. They stare at the officials and the few privileged curious behind a large iron rail broke down the courage of the spectators, who bowed their heads in abasement at their own loss to witness the destruction of a fellow man.

The binders are not placed to prevent the condemned from escaping. They are there to hold the leaping, straining body when the electricity enters and the soul departs.

N. L. Speer, the prison warden, the State appointed executioner, takes his stand behind the chair. A curtain is drawn that he may not see the dying man, as the warden closes the circuit with the switch, until the prisoner is dead. "It is duty," so says Warden Speer, "and try to tell myself that in the performance of duty

(By Associated Press) HUNTSVILLE, Sept. 1.—A score and ten men have sat and bide the world goodbye in the death chair in the dark gray room of destruction here behind the aged walls of the Texas penitentiary. Nine death cells all in a row.

Heavy steel bars cast ghastly shadows on the leaden walls of each death crib, from the lone light in the corridor, where it burns low and where the one inside warden walks slowly to and fro, from the blank and dank wall of cell number one, to the iron door of the room where thirty souls have met their God.

Huddled against the cold, steel-barred doors, white, brown and black men read their much thumbed Bibles. They cannot look "with such a wistful eye" upon anything "the prisoners call the sky," and were it not for the change of the guards and the bringing in of food, they would never know when the rosy dawn creeps over the tall southern pines and rugged walls into the prison yard.

For any number of instances can be recited in which the rookies, once away from the blackboard and the practice field, have melted away like butter exposed to the sizzling sun.

This year the Farmers are handicapped in the race by entering with a greater loss of letter men than any team in the conference, and the big problem confronting Coach Bible is in the nature of developing his newcomers into a team considered real contenders for the title. Who knows but what he may turn out another Joel Hunt from among his rookies, and if he does, football fandom will turn its face to "watch the Aggies."

For the first time in the history of the Aggies, their schedule calls for playing their opening game on foreign territory. On September 24th they clash with Trinity University at Waxahachie, in what will be a tough battle, and will also provide opportunity for Bible to test his new material. Half of the Farmer team will be composed of rookies who are going in determined to win regular berths by showing the fighting spirit that has brought fame to the Aggies.

Trinity, who last year were runners-up in the TIAA and powerful contenders for the championship, beat Rice and Baylor and gave the Aggies a scare by amassing 10 points against them and making the Aggies gather 20 to beat them out. Word from their camp credits them with having a formidable aggregation, which is again to be led by Coach Holton, a former Notre Dame star. A record crowd for the season's first game is expected to seek admission at the gates, since the day's program includes dedication of Trinity's new playing field and grandstand.
